

2 Day Guest Lecture

On

“Psychodynamic Psychotherapy”

Dr. Jayanti Basu

Professor & Head
Dept. of Applied Psychology
Calcutta University, Kolkata

Organized by

Dept. of Clinical Psychology
LGB Regional Institute of Mental Health, Tezpur

Date: 22-10-2018 (whole day)
& 23-10-2018 (Morning half)
Venue: 3rd Floor (Psych. Nsg.
Seminar Hall), Academic Block

Special Lecture
‘Rescuing Projective techniques within Psychology’
Date: 23-10-2018 (3 pm onwards)
Venue: Cafeteria- Seminar Hall

Jayanti Basu is Professor and presently Head of the Department of Applied Psychology of University of Calcutta. She is also a psychoanalyst. She has more than hundred research papers and book chapters to her credit, published by national and international journals and publishers. She has authored a book entitled ‘Reconstructing the Bengal Partition: Psyche under a different violence’ pertaining to the psychoanalytic understanding of partition experiences in Bengal. She has presented research articles and invited lectures at many national and international conferences. Her major research interests at the present moment are psychotherapy process, psychodynamics, and moral psychology. She had worked as the Honorary Editor of the Journal of the Indian Academy of Applied psychology for 3 years, and is presently associated as expert and reviewer of a number of national and international journals